HUGH HAMMACK BESET BY MOB

Attacked By Drunken Negroes He Downed One and Shot at Two.

BORROWED A SHOTGUN.

One of Them Also Shot at Him With a Shotgun With Slight Effect.

Hugh Hammack, a prominent farmer of near Casky, was attacked Monday afternoon by a crowd of drunken negroes. He was going home in his buggy when he came up with three negroes in a buggy, Martin Bruin, Fred Bruin and Andy Wagoner, who were driving recklessly and frightened a lady by almost colliding with her buggy and then attempted to pass Mr. Hammack, causing his horse to run away. He checked the horse and soon came up with his own wagon with Ike Watkins, Shelby Webber and Wesley Merritt in the wagon and two of them were fighting. He drove alongside and told them to stop fighting. The negroes he had passed came up and both crowds began to curse and abuse Mr. Hammack. Webber saying he had it in for him and would settle it right there. Two of them tried to pull him from his buggy, but he whipped up his horse and proceeded down the road a short distance to John White's and ran into his house and borrowed a double-barreled shotgun. Returning to the road he knocked Webber down and was kicking him when Merritt came out of a cabin with a gun, but Mr. White kept Hammack from shooting and Merritt ran behind a barn and shot at Hammack, the small birdshot striking him, but not penetrating his clothes. Both Merritt and Webber then ran in the same direction, and Mr. Hammack emptied one barrel at each of them.

Merritt and Webber have been arrested and are in jail and warrants are out for the others.

ADVANCED IDEAS

On the Juvenile Court By Judge Brown.

H. D. Demand, president lecture committee of the Missouri State Normal School, says of Judge Willis Brown, who will appear at the Tabernacle next Thursday night, Dec. 17:

"Judge Willis Brown appeared here as one of the attractions on our regular lecture course. He is intensely interesting and brings a pleasing message to his hearers. His lecture gives advanced ideas on the Juvenile Court. Judge Brown is a fluent speaker and his lecture was greatly enjoyed by a large audience. He is justly popular as a platform orator."

Prosperity for Maybrick.

The case of Mrs. Florence Maybrick and her mother, the Baroness Von Roque, of New York, involving title to land said to be worth $2,500,000, was decided in their favor in the chancery court at Richmond, Va.

Popular Physician Takes Unto Himself a Bride, Near City.

Keith-McCool.

Dr. J. Paul Keith and Miss Myrtle Mae McCool were united in marriage last night at the home of the bride, two miles south-east of the city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. H. H. Branch. The wedding was a very quiet home affair and there were no attendants. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. J. H. Holman and is a very pretty and attractive young woman. She is a graduate of South Kentucky College, taking the degree of A. B. in the class of 1901, and has for several years been teaching a private school. The groom is a popular young physician who was reared near Crofton and is a successful practitioner of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith will reside on Seventh avenue, east, corner Liberty.

GUS MOORE

Captures a Bride In a Southern City.

Mr. Gus H. Moore, Jr., a prominent young contractor of this city, and Miss Bessie Lee Williamson, of Houston, Texas, were married last night at the bride's home. The Houston Post in an advance notice said the wedding was to be one of the important social events of the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will arrive here in a few days and be at home at the Moore farm on the Newstead pike.

The groom is a young engineer of character as a business man and is a son of the late J. C. Moore, a leader.

TORTOISE SHELL.

The Way the Plates are Removed From the Animal.

The comb of tortoise shell has a wavy pale and translucent yellow, the latter being the most valuable kind of shell.

"Many people think this pale, uncolored shell the cheaper kind," the dealer said. "Do you know why? Because the imitations are all made like this."

"That is one vulgar error about shell. Another is that the tortoise is killed to get its shell casing. That is as absurd an error as it would be to say a sheep was killed to get its wool."

"What is done is this: The fishermen, having caught a tortoise, tie him and then cover his back with dry grass and leaves. They set fire to this stuff, at first slowly, and the heat causes the thirteen plates of the shell to loosen at the joints. With a knife the plates are pried off, and afterward the tortoise is set free. The base, or root, of his shell is intact and will grow again. If tortoises were killed to get their shell they would long since have become extinct."

"No, no. Every tortoise is, as it were, a farm—a shell farm. Fishermen catch him regularly, and then, with a knife, gently remove his shell."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

COLORS IN THE OCEAN.

Various Causes For the Different Tints of the Water.

Sky and cloud colors are often reflected in the sea, but just as the air has its sunset glory so water has its changing tints quite apart from mere reflection.

Olive and brown lines in the waves off the coast come from the muddy sediment washed from the shore, as bluish tints chiefly from reflected sky. But there are many other colors in the ocean. On almost every long voyage at sea spots of various colors are noticed at one time or another. When a few drops of the discolored water are examined under a microscope myriads of minute cylinders and other shapes are seen, some separate, some joined together in scoria. It is this organism—sometimes called "sea sawdust"—which has given the name of the Red Sea, although it also abounds in other waters. Sometimes the water far from land will be seen to be of a chocolate hue, for an extent of several miles, and this is caused by millions upon millions of minute orange-colored animals which lash themselves along, each on its erratic individual course, by means of the finest of hair-like threads of cilia—Penrose's.

The Traces of the Beasts.

On every side in the Malay wilds the traces of the beasts which here live as scheduled, as safe from molestation, as old their ancestors in pre-Adamite days—are visible on tree trunk, on low-lying cane path and on the yielding clay at the drinking places by the hurrying stream. Here a lot of mud nine feet from the ground shows that an elephant has raised his itching back against the rough bark of a tree, and, see, coarse hairs are still sticking in the hardened clay. There a long, sharp scratch repeated at regular intervals marks the passing of a rhinoceros. Here, again, is the pad mark of a tiger barely an hour old, and the pitted tracks of deer of all sizes and varieties surround the deeply punched holes which are the footprints of an elephant.—Cornhill Magazine.

Settled the Sign.

When William M. Evans was secretary of state a new elevator man had been employed by the department who did not know Mr. Evans by sight. In his car was a conspicuous sign to the effect that by order of the secretary of state smoking was prohibited. One day Mr. Evans boarded the car in company with a famous senator, the latter smoking a cigar. The new man promptly touched the smoker on the elbow and said, pointing at the notice, "Can't you read that sign?" Mr. Evans promptly tore down the offending notice and, turning to the elevator man, said, "What sign? I don't see any." The attendant, suspecting something, wisely held his peace, but he followed the pair out and asked the guard at the door why the chap with the large head was. "The guard told him."

England's Prettiest Villages.

After a very careful survey we venture to write down the names of the six English villages that we consider the prettiest in the land so far as our own opinion and the opinion of others concerned. The choice is made happily and with full knowledge and due recognition of the claims of each to its high place. Here they are: Glastonbury, Dorset; Glastonbury, Dorset; Glastonbury, Dorset; Glastonbury, Dorset; Glastonbury, Dorset; Glastonbury, Dorset.

Accomplished.

NATURE AS A FAKER.

She Sometimes Deceives Even the Eyes of the Scientist.

On the so-called tangle mounds of Iowa are numerous impressions of what look exactly like cloven feet. It is not surprising that superstitious people should attribute them to the devil taking his walks abroad, though as a matter of fact they are not footprints of any kind whatsoever, but merely weather worn impressions left by a species of mollusk-like animal known to science as pentamerus.

To the Smithsonian Institution now housed at the University of Nebraska what purported to be a fossil ham. It did in very truth look like a ham, and, to render the verisimilitude complete, the bone was actually sticking out at one end of it. Nevertheless an investigation showed that the alleged bone was in reality a "vacuole"—an extinct mollusk's shell rotting in form—and the rest of the "ham" was a mere accidental agglomeration of stony stuff.

One day quite recently a young man walked into the National museum at Washington and presented to the anthropologist in charge a petrified foot. It was received with many thanks, though recognized at a glance as a water worn fragment of rock which had accidentally assumed a shape resembling a foot.

Such chance imitations as these frequently occur in nature. Another one, deposited in the same institution, was supposed by the finder to be a petrified oyster. It was quite a fine specimen, all its parts were wonderfully distinct, and there is even a small pearl in it seemingly. Yet it is not an oyster at all.

Many years ago the "ozocon" was introduced as a fossil to a wondering world by Sir William Dawson, an eminent geologist. It was accepted by eminent geologists as the earliest and oldest of known animals—the "dawn animal," as its name signifies. Recent scientific investigation, however, has proved that it is not, and never was an animal at all. It is merely a curious crystalline combination of two minerals which has the look of something that once upon a time was an animal.

It has recently been proved that many markings on sedimentary rocks long supposed to be fossil prints of plants and other plants are in reality tracks left by insects, mollusks and worms. Some of these alleged "plants" had actually received names and been classified into genera and species. But it has been sufficiently shown that markings exactly similar can be produced by allowing such animals as those above mentioned to creep across a surface of moist plaster or wet clay, counteracting rock in a plastic and not yet hardened condition, and one well known vegetable frequently noted as fossils in this way has been satisfactorily identified with the trail of the larva of the dragon fly.—Saturday Evening Post.

A Rusty Iron Nail.

It has been discovered that a happy miller's family living in the vicinity of the town of Llanelli, Wales, have received a rustic income since 1815 from the sale of a rusty iron nail. It was not many years after the battle that an eccentric Englishman on the strength of his eyes and evidence discovered that Napoleon's hat had been hanging on that nail, the emperor having rested awhile at the mill during the battle. An offer for the old nail was immediately accepted by the previously guileless miller, who after the deal replaced it by another old nail and continued to receive round it on the wall pointing out its historical value. One nail after another has gone to enrich collections as priceless Napoleonic relics.—Argonaut.

Without Ostentation.

The late Josiah W. Leeds of Philadelphia was notable for his lifelong fight against ostentation. He loved simplicity as he loved modesty. Ostentation he abhorred, especially the ostentation of funerals and cemeteries. He used often to quote an epitaph that he had once seen in a secluded graveyard.

This epitaph, which was cut on the simplest, cheapest stone it is possible to imagine, said: "The monument is very plain, no doubt, but all the money in the world would not have brought our poor dear father back to us again."—Washington Star.

A Famous Perfume.

Queen Alexandra's favorite perfume, it is well known, is a certain essence, the secret of which is so carefully guarded that no money can purchase the recipe. In the late Queen Victoria used this same perfume for more than fifty years. Nobody but the manufacturer knows the formula, but a Paris perfume house has recently pronounced it a blend of rose, violet, jasmine, lavender and orange blossom.

London's Fabled Minded Children.

There are eighty-four schools in London for the education of children who are not included under the extreme term "idiots or imbeciles," but are "feeble minded and defective." They are attended by 6,000 children, of whom about two-thirds learn some useful manual work, while the rest are taught the rudiments of permanent education age.—London Telegraph.

Persian Humor.

A recent Persian caricature shows a bearded Turk in a turban upon the crenelated roof of his house looking through a fieldglass. "Allah is just," he exclaims. "Now that my neighbor's wives go to the bath, I have uncovered I see that they are quite as homely as my own."

The Glamour of Paternalism.

In his heart of hearts the average American believes in his country and its institutions and has faith that it will successfully work out its great political, industrial and social problems in ways that are in harmony with individual liberty and a democratic form of government. But that does not prevent an occasional hankering after the despotism of the Egypt of paternal government, whether it is frankly monarchical or nominally republican. We are prone to forget that such a government is a very close corporation and one that is apt to be arbitrary in its methods and, since it controls the courts, less amenable to public sentiment than were the private corporations it supplanted. That forgetfulness makes us an easy mark for condescension writers who find it profitable to attack our institutions and industries by "writing up" the advantages of public ownership in other lands, while preserving a discreet silence as to its disadvantages.

The Earth's Motion.

The great Newton decided that the motions of all bodies in space are suffering retardation and that their velocity is steadily becoming less and will eventually cease, and all the astronomical facts of present day astronomy are decidedly in favor of Sir Isaac's idea. The earth, with its mass of 3,000 trillions of tons, traveling through space at the speed of something like 1,000 miles a minute, is slowly but surely coming to a standstill through the friction of the ether and other causes. It has been calculated by eminent astronomers that the earth loses about an hour in 15,000 years and is therefore gradually coming to a rest.—New York American.

Oxygen Tippling.

"Oxygen tippling is the latest form of the drug habit," said a doctor. "You physicians have died of it this year, and it is stated that there are quite a hundred oxygen tipplers among the list of our big sins."

"Oxygen, you know, is a wonderful stimulant. Its inhalation keeps death off the dying for days and days. But taken regularly it soon wrecks the health. Its effect is really to be delightful. Like champagne, it creates gayety. Along with this gayety goes a feeling of tremendous power and lightness. Driven on oxygen, the most sluggish and melancholy persons have a joyous and heartening idea that they can do anything in the world."—New York Press.

"Generally debilitated for years, Had sick headaches, lacked ambition, was worn out and all run down, Burdock Blood Bitters made me a well woman."—Mrs. Chas. Freitoy, Moose, Conn.

Americanized.

The problems of "civilizing" the Indian has its amusing side. In this connection an official of the bureau of Indian affairs tells of a certain "Bottall Coyote," who was sent to a government school from his reservation in Wyoming. When Bob left he was clad in buckskin and spoke only his mother tongue.

He remained at school during the stipulated time, gradually becoming a "white man" to all intents and purposes. But no greater transformation was manifested when he returned to his own people than that of his name, evolved from the savage Bottall Coyote to that which appeared on his neatly engraved card, "Robert T. Wolf," Cincinnati Enquirer.

A German who did not speak very good English and who had been in England some little time was desirous of giving his wife a fortnight's holiday at the seaside. He found, however, that he would be unable to spare the time himself, but promised to accompany her there and return the following day.

Accordingly on the morning when they were to make the journey he went to the ticket office and said to the official: "Please give me von ticket to Brighton for myself to return tomorrow." Then, to the amusement of every one, he added, "And von order for my wife—please to return"—London Tri-Bliss.

Trees.

Trees, like animals, eat, sleep, grow and die. When the weather is warm a tree goes to sleep at sundown and in the morning wakes again. A cloudy sky makes the tree drowsy. Rain puts it to sleep. So the only days of prosperity and tree activity are the clear days.

In sleep the leaves of many trees fold together and drop. The closing of the leaves checks the cooling process of evaporation and maintains bodily heat. All young and tender foliage tends thus to curl up to sleep when the weather is bad or night is in the sky. Older and stiffer leaves go to sleep sitting up, just like grandfather in his armchair.

The breathing of the tree is as necessary as the breathing of animals. All life consists of a continuous building up and tearing down of cells. The material for building new cells is made of food taken in and elaborated—made over—by intricate chemical processes. The oxygen in the air is one of the chemical ingredients both in destroying and building the cells of animals and trees. The leaves are the lungs, which inhale carbon dioxide and exhale pure oxygen.—New York Herald.

THE OPIONIC TEST.

What It Showed the Man Who Smoked a Great Deal.

His friends knew that he would rather miss half an hour of a play than cut short his after dinner cigar, and they were astonished when he announced that he had quit smoking.

"What's the trouble?" he was asked.

"Opionic test," he replied gloomily.

"What in the world is that?"

"I've been run down of late and feeling pretty blue. As there is consumption in my family, I consulted a specialist. He said I didn't have the disease yet, but he would tell me what my chances were of getting it. We are constantly breathing tuberculosis germs, he explained, but he thought he had the power to destroy them. So he took a drop of my blood and inoculated it with a certain number of germs. In half an hour he examined it under the microscope and found that only half as many germs had been killed as should have been the case. Normal, healthy blood is said to have an opionic test of 100, so my test was only 50. He advised me to build up my strength by sanitary living—lots of fresh air day and night, plenty of sleep, wholesome food and moderation in work and pleasures."

"Where does smoking come in?"

"He said that tobacco had an extraordinary effect in decreasing the power of the blood to destroy germs. Some men who smoke a great deal have an opionic test of zero—that is, their blood has no effect whatever on germs. I am fond of my cigar, but when specialist levels an opinion test all cooked and primed at your head and says, 'Tobacco or your life,' what are you going to do but throw up your hands?"—New York Tribune.

DESOLATION ISLAND.

Kerguelen Land is a Region of Perpetual Storms.

Of all places on earth outside the arctic and antarctic regions Kerguelen Land, in the Indian ocean, is the most isolated and inhospitable. Indeed, it is generally known to mariners not by its official title, but as Desolation Island.

Most nations have owned it by turns, but it has been sooner or later abandoned by them all as worthless, and this although it covers an area variously estimated at from 1,500 to 2,000 square miles. At present France is in nominal possession of it, she having annexed it in 1893.

The soil is utterly barren. Practically the whole of the interior is covered with snow fields of unknown depth, whence glaciers flow down to the sea. Where there are no snow fields there are morasses and hidden, treacherous mudholes.

The climate is probably the worst in the world. Terrible tempests follow one another practically without ceasing and are accompanied by torrents of ice cold rain, hail, sleet and snow. The chilliest expedition spent a month there, during which time there was only three fine days. And this was in December-January, when it is mid-summer in those latitudes.

Its discoverer, M. Kerguelen Tremarec, although at first he professed to be enraptured with it, lived to confess that it was unfit for human habitation.

"Not even Eskimo," he exclaimed, "could exist there."—Pearson's.

Too Cheap.

The class at Kirk had been reading the story of Joseph and his brethren, and it came to the turn of the visiting minister to examine the boys.

The replies to all of his questions had been quick, intelligent and correct, such as:

"What great crime did these sons of Jacob commit?"

"They sold their brother Joseph."

"Quite correct. And for how much?"

"Twenty pieces of silver."

"And what added to the cruelty and wickedness of these bad brothers?"

A pause.

"What made their treachery even more detestable and heinous?"

Then a bright little fellow stretched out an eager hand.

"Well, my man?"

"Please, sir, they sold him over cheap."

Very Nearly Trouble.

"Horace, you don't love me as you used to."

"Not altogether, my dear. When we were first married I loved you for your beauty. Now I love you for your real worth, your many excellencies of mind and heart and for your—"

"So, Horace Higginworthy! You think I've got entirely over my good looks?"

"No, let me tell you, sir—"

"And for your unflinching sweetness of disposition, my dear."

"Courteously, whether to go ahead and scold him just the same or to indulge in a good cry, she compromised by doing neither and fell to darning his socks with renewed energy.

The Weather.

FOR KENTUCKY—Generally fair Thursday. Not much change in temperature.

The trial of Jas. H. Parrish, the Owensboro bank wrecker, was begun
at Louisville Tuesday.

J. G. Scheller, a Louisville business man who disappeared mysteriously
Dec. 2, has not been heard from yet.

A law and order league has been formed at Jackson to prosecute violators of the liquor laws and other laws.

D. J. Alexander has decided not to prosecute further his contest against E. P. Phillips for the nomination for county judge in Calloway county. The belief is strong that Alexander was urged by others to make a contest.

All of the evidence in the night
rider cases will be taken over again
at Union City and new indictments returned, to remove any possible
doubt of the legality of the proceedings
in the called session of court.
Gov. Patterson has his fight won and doesn't intend to let the guilty men get away.

Christian Rudowitz, a Russian refugee, is being tried for extradition
in Chicago, charged with being a murderer but really wanted as an escaped revolutionist. The case is being bitterly contested in the Federal court and the fate of many refugees depends on the decision in this test case.

Judge Evans has held the stock holders in the defunct Owensboro
Savings Bank, wrecked by the Parrishes, responsible under the double liability law and those of them who are solvent will be sued for about $5,000 out of $200,000. Rev. W. D.
Nowlin will be caught for $2,000, the amount of the stock he lost.

Congress opened the short session
Monday and President Roosevelt sent in his last message Tuesday.
There was a great number of new bills introduced, varying all the way from the admission of New Mexico into the Union to the regulation of marriages and divorces. When the House adjourned seventy-three public bills had been dropped into the hopper in addition to 250 private bills and eight resolutions.

The tale of Man is famous for three things. It has a form of government that has remained unchanged
for upward of a thousand years—
a long time even in the history of nations; it has produced a peculiar breed of tailless cats, and it is the come of Hall Caine, the world's most successful novelist. King Orry, a Norse viking who took possession of the Island in the Tenth Century, established the constitution and laws
under which it is still governed.

John L. Smith is greatly improving the Lyon County Herald from week to week. The paper has been enlarged, is neatly printed, well edited and conservative on questions that divide the people. This serial paragraph is from the last number.
"If we would make Lyon county
desirable to live in, and to do business in, we must obey the law, treat
each other right, and make good citizens of ourselves and of our children."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors promoted it a local disease and prescribed local treatment and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease
and therefore requires constitutional treatment.
Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cher-

A scientist at Washington denies that the devil fish is dangerous. He says the devil fish, or great ray, is flat, said to be sometimes thirty feet across, with two great apple arms or head fins, shaped somewhat like elephant's tusks, protruding from the front of its head. Although many thrilling tales of adventure with this fish have from time to time found their way into print, there is not yet
on record an authoritative account of a devil fish having eaten a human being.

An alleged detective who is writing articles for the Courier-Journal and magnifying rumors from the night rider operations into thrilling and boastful personal experiences, is much mixed in some of his stories, given as an eye-witness. He says he saw a bandage around the head of the wounded leader nearly five months after his temple was grazed
by a bullet in the attack on Hopkinsville, the wound in reality, though it stung him for awhile, being so slight that he pulled his hat over it and returned to Hopkinsville the night following the raid and the scratch was not noticed.

Atlanta Democrats showed that even party loyalty can be put to too severe a test. A mayor, noted for his dissipation and unfitness, forced himself upon the party for re-nomination, but the civic league, headed by another Democrat, whose character was above reproach and he was elected by 8,000 majority. We warn the Democratic party now that the nominations for circuit judge and commonwealth's attorney next year
must be men who are known to be worthy. There are mutterings of a coming storm and if men known to be in sympathy with lawlessness force themselves upon the party, remember that happened in Democratic Atlanta.

Editor Geo. S. Weathers has this to say in the Elkton Times:

"Whenever the Hopkinsville Kentuckian
copies anything from neighboring exchanges generally, it gives the particular exchange due credit.
This rule holds good until it copies something from the Todd County Times. Then, because the editor of the Kentuckian has always hated the editor of the Times, (and God knows there's no love lost,) it deliberately refuses to give this paper any credit whatever. The Times has never pursued the same course with reference to the Kentuckian. The editor doesn't hold himself up as a bright and shining light in any church, but he believes to some extent in returning good for evil and doesn't believe that the proper way to fight is to twist something from an enemy.
The Times has no ambition to be made conspicuous in the columns of the Kentuckian; it just simply hates to see such manifestations of ill-will on the part of the Kentucky editor. We are glad the other Hopkinsville newspapers have better judgment as to what constitutes honesty in journalism."

It is the settled policy of the Kentuckian to give due credit for all items reproduced from other papers.
We are at a loss to understand what has provoked the paragraph above. If we have neglected to give credit for any item used from the Times, it was entirely unintentional.
We will go further and say that we have never knowingly done an injury to Mr. Weathers. Our acquaintance with him is so slight that we have no recollection of having met him more than once or twice and if we ever exchanged a dozen words with him
we do not now recall it. His partner learned the trade in this office and for him we entertain the very kindest of feelings, and would be glad to be on the same pleasant terms with Mr. Weathers, if we could find out what his grievance is,
and be able to remove it. He has said many unkind things about us,
more perhaps than any other editor
in the state, but we have attributed it to differences of opinion on the night rider question, and not to personal enmity. We are sorry to know that he entertains hatred, a feeling
we assure him is not at all reciprocated.
If Mr. Weathers will tell what we have done to incur his pleasure, we will do all that a gentleman could to make amends for what was certainly an unintentional offense.

SOME POLIT- ICAL POINTS

Several Primaries of Both Parties Were Held Saturday.

POWERS IN POLITICS.

Todd and Simpson Nominate Full Democratic Tickets.

The Hon. William Lewis easily defeated Judge H. Faulkner for the nomination for circuit judge in the Republican primary held in the twenty-seventh judicial district. His majority will be about 2,500. He carried every county in the district.
Caleb Powers got his revenge when Capt. B. D. Golden was defeated for commonwealth's attorney by J. C.
Cloyd. Capt. Golden only carried his home county, Knox.

Returns from the Republican primary in the Twenty-sixth judicial district insures the renomination of Circuit Judge M. J. Moss, of Pineville, Bell county, over his opponent,
the Hon. W. T. Davis, of the same city, by about 650 majority. Present Commonwealth's Attorney, J. B.
Snyder, of Williamsburg, was renominated over his old opponent, R. S.
Rose, of the same city, by about 600 majority, carrying every county in the district.

There was much interest in the Democratic primary in Todd county Saturday, over 2,100 votes being polled. The candidates that received the nominations were as follows:
County judge, T. O. Duffy; county attorney, W. D. Davis; county court

clerk, Coleman E. Gill; sheriff, Lucian Lindsay; assessor, Sam Byars;
jailer, W. F. Glenn; circuit court clerk, John A. Goodman; representative, F. M. Russell; county superintendent, A. S. Johnson.

The primary election was one of the quietest ever held in Simpson county, as neither money nor liquor was used to influence the voters.
The vote in several races was close.
This is the ticket nominated:

Representative, Dr. J. R. Claypool;
county judge, E. S. Bradshaw; county attorney, C. B. Moore; county clerk, A. H. Hill; circuit clerk, G. R.
Taylor; sheriff, J. R. Gossett; county superintendent, Charles Turner; jail-
er, Steve Smith; assessor, Bud Stark; surveyor, V. K. Witt; coronor, John Eli Turner.

Johnson implicated Will Tutt and over to the county and given workhouse sentences.

PE-RU-NA IN THE HOME.

Peruna is the best friend I ever had.

Residence of
MRS. FLORENCE ATKENS
TOLEDO, OHIO.

One of Thousands of Homes.

MRS. FLORENCE ATKENS, 409 1/2 St., Toledo, Ohio, writes: "Peruna cured me of internal catarrh. I took about four bottles when I noticed the improvement and the fifth bottle cured me. "I do not know what I would have been like today had I not got Peruna, for I was in a terrible state. I had pains all over and was cross and irritable. I was losing hope of ever being well again, and was downhearted. I am today a cured woman, after suffering for nine months.

"I cannot tell you how happy I feel, but you will know. I never heard of such medicine; it is the best medicine on earth. My husband is now taking it. I will always keep Peruna in my house. Peruna is the best friend I ever had. It must be praised; it cured me."

Peruna Tablets.

For two years Dr. Hartman and his assistants have labored incessantly to create Peruna in tablet form, and their strenuous efforts have just been crowned with success. People who object to liquid medicine can now secure Peruna tablets.

Where Peruna is Used.

MRS. MARIA GOERTZ, Orienta, Okla., writes: "My husband, children and myself have used your medicine, and we always keep them in the house in case of necessity. "I was restored to health by this medicine. People ask about me from different places, and are surprised that I can do all of my household work alone, and that I was cured by the doctor of chronic catarrh.

"My husband was cured of asthma, my daughter of sarache and catarrh of the stomach, and my son of catarrh of the throat. When I was sick I weighed one hundred pounds; now I weigh one hundred and forty. Peruna quieted the nerves, and is a great specific for all forms of chronic catarrh."

BIG DAY FOR STAND-PATTERS

Gen. Mgr. Ewing Was Greeted By a Monster Gathering

INSURGENTS ABSENT.

Christian One Of The Best Signed Up Counties In The District.

A tremendous crowd heard Mr. F. G. Ewing, General Manager of the Tobacco Association, Monday. He was introduced by Dr. J. L. Barker, the county chairman.

Mr. Ewing's general health has improved and though his voice was weak he was able to make himself heard by most of his hearers. At the conclusion of his address Dr. Barker took a vote as to whether or not the Manager should be sustained and many hands were held up. On the negative side five or six, some of them colored members, held up their hands. One of the conspicuous insurgents was Lee Witte, who recently had one of his eyes injured, and who stood upon a rear bench with a bandage around his head.

Looking at his uplifted hand Mr. Ewing said, "We will send a committee to wait upon the few who are dissatisfied."

Witte retorted in a loud voice: "Will you send it in the day time or at night?" and the meeting closed with a general laugh.

ANSWERED QUESTIONS.

Mr. Ewing answered all sorts of questions propounded by members. No insurgents took part in the quizzing. He told what it had done to promote the welfare of the members. When the questions were asked, County Chairman Barker wanted to know if the report was true that a certain Dr. David A. Amos had been paid $500 or some other large sum to lead certain night-riding raids. Mr. Ewing emphatically denied that Dr. Amos or any other person had been paid any sum of money for such purposes. He said that no money had ever been paid out by the association except through legitimate channels, for legitimate expenses, and that there was no graft in the organization.

He denied that the directors reaped any benefits from pricing contracts, or that they enjoyed any perquisites. One official's resignation had been asked for on account of his business connection; a bank among them. Mr. Ewing said he had refused to take stock in any enterprise, even the Guthrie organ, doing business with the association.

The association, he said, did not publish financial statements because enemies of the organization would seek to distort the figures, but every county chairman was supplied with such a statement, to which every member had access. Concerning the capitalization of the organization at only $200, he said that was done merely to conform to the law; the stock being held by the directors, nondividend-paying and passing from each county chairman to his successor in office. Under the charter, should the association be dissolved, all money in the treasury would be pro-rated among the members of the association of the preceding year.

There was now $57,000 in the treasury and if no unforeseen expenses occurred it would be possible to reduce the 1 per cent. commission charged members for association purposes. He told of the negotiations now on with the Imperial Tobacco Company for the 1908 crop. If the sale is made the tobacco will be packed lightly in hogheads, about 1,150 pounds to each. This proposed deal has opened up the stemming district trade and prospects for larger sales are rosy. The 19,000 hoghead of the 1907 crop still unsold was being taken at the rate of 500 to 1,200 a week and all would be sold before the 1908 crop was offered.

He said the loose sale scheme was out of the question, as the tobacco could not properly be controlled except in hogheads duly recorded. In each transaction during 1909 there will be a system of book-keeping by which a daily record would be kept on every hoghead pledged to the association. He said he had been informed arrangements were practically made by which members could obtain 60 per cent advance payment on their tobacco at 8 per cent interest.

Mentioning the suit filed at Paducah after the appointment for a receiver for the association, Mr. Ewing asserted that enemies of the organization were back of the movement and were seeking to harass its officers. The condition of tobacco was responsible for the regrading that had been done and prices were lowered in order to make them right, the demand in the preceding season having made them abnormally high.

As to the Lyon county resolutions, he said he visited Lyon county twice and was assured by the people that everything was all right there. On neither occasion was he able to see the author of the resolutions. He denied that there was serious discontent in Christian county and said that loyal men of the association outnumbered the insurgents five to one. The condition of the association was excellent, he said, and he called on all members for enthusiastic support. While the Burley Association had made one spectacular deal, he said, the Planters' Association had been in successful operation for three years. There were complex problems to solve and strong opposition to overcome, all of which was being splendidly accomplished. He pleaded for good feeling among all the members and deprecated any spirit of unfriendliness and asked for the sympathy and support of all the good citizens of this region for the association.

Newspaper Burned Out.

Mayfield, Ky., Dec. 9.—The office of the Daily and Weekly Monitor, owned and published by W. K. Wall, was almost destroyed by fire at 8:30 o'clock Monday night. The origin of the fire is unknown, but a mysterious explosion occurred before the fire broke out. The loss will be heavy, with only $1,500 insurance. The publications are temporarily suspended.

Drugstore Burns.

Eddyville, Ky., Dec. 9.—The stock of the Locher-Drug Company and the building occupied by this firm were destroyed by fire Tuesday morning. When the fire was discovered it was well under way, and only by almost heroic efforts of the citizens was the whole of Eddyville saved from destruction. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

125 CASES OF TYPHOID FEVER

Read and weigh carefully the following dispatch from Georgetown, Ky.:

Georgetown, Ky., Dec. 3.—Drinking water, contaminated by sewerage, is responsible for 125 cases of typhoid fever in this vicinity. Georgetown college has been temporarily closed.

Georgetown is a small city of 5,000. This deplorable condition of affairs has been produced by inadequate disposition of offal, refuse and sewerage.

Hopkinsville has between 250 and 300 dry wells, not to mention the vaults. They are daily filling the earth with their horrible and malignant contents. Where do these discharges eventually land? In the wells and cisterns and small streams. Nine-tenths of the typhoid fever are traced to impure and contaminated water. What is now happening in Georgetown will happen to Hopkinsville if the sanitary conditions are not improved. Will you take the life of your loved ones in your hand for so small a sum? Let us connect your premises with a perfectly sanitary sewerage system before the winter months set in.

Yours for health,
HOPKINSVILLE SEWERAGE CO.

Too Much Courtiny.
Toledo, O., A believer in the maxim that a faint heart never won a fair lady, William C. Ragan made love to Mrs. Elsie Smith, a widow, so persistently that Judge Brough granted a temporary injunction asked for by Mrs. Smith, which enjoins Ragan from laying on her his unwelcome affections. Mrs. Smith asks that after a hearing the court forever enjoin Ragan from courting her.

ARCTIC TEMPERATURES.

Zero Weather is Regarded as Mild and Agreeable.

According to eminent arctic explorers, physical sensations are relative, and the mere enumeration of so many degrees of heat or cold gives no idea of their effect upon the system.

One explorer states that he should have frozen at home in England in a temperature that he found very comfortable indeed in Lapland, with his solid diet of meat and butter and his garments of reindeer.

The following is a correct scale of the physical effects of cold, calculated for the latitude of 55 to 70 degrees north:

Fifteen degrees above zero—unpleasantly warm.

Zero—mild and agreeable.

Ten degrees below zero—pleasantly fresh and bracing.

Twenty degrees below zero—sharp, but not severely cold. One must keep one's fingers and toes in motion and rub one's nose occasionally.

Thirty degrees below zero—very cold. Particular care must be taken of the nose and extremities. Plenty of the fattest food must be eaten.

Forty degrees below zero—intensely cold. One must keep awake at all hours, muffle up to the eyes and test the circulation frequently, that it may not stop somewhere before one knows it.

Fifty degrees below zero—a struggle for life.—Chicago Record-Herald.

PETTING A HORSE.

If You Want to Please Him Rub Him Between the Ears.

"Not many people know how to pet a horse, from the horse's standpoint, at any rate," said a trainer. "Every nice looking horse comes in for a good deal of petting. Hitch a fine horse close to the curb and you'll find that half the men, women and children who go by will stop for a minute, say 'Nice horse' and give him an affectionate pat or two.

"The trouble is they don't pat him in the right place. If you want to make a horse think he is going straight to heaven hitch him to a New York cab or delivery wagon, rub his eyelids. Next to that form of endearment a horse likes to be rubbed right between the ears. In petting horses most people alight these nerve centers. They stroke the horse's nose. While a well behaved horse will accept the nasal caress complacently, he would much prefer that nice, soothing touch applied to the eyelids. Once in awhile a person comes along who really does know how to pet a horse. Nine times out of ten that man was brought up in the country among horses and learned when a boy their peculiar ways."—New York Globe.

Queer Old Book Titles.

These are some of the odd titles of old English books published in the time of Cromwell:

"A Most Delectable Sweet Perfumed Kneegay For God's Saluts to Smell At."

"Biscuit Baked in the Oven of Charity, carefully conserved for the Chickens of the Church, the Sparrows of the Spirit and the Sweet Swallows of Salvation."

"A High of Sorrow For the Sinners of Zion breathed out of a Hole in the Wall of an Earthly Vessel known Among Men by the name of Samuel Fish."

"Eggs of Charity Layed For the Chickens of the Covenant and Baked with the Water of Divine Love. Take ye out and Eat."

"The Spiritual Mustard Pot to make the Soul Sizzle with Devotion."

The Sailor's Prayer Book.

"This is what you call the sailor's prayer book," a seaman said bitterly as he kicked a holystone out of the way. "Why is it called that? Well, in the first place, it is called that because in using it, in holystoning the deck, the sailor has to kneel down, and, in the second place, because all holystoning is done on Sunday. Don't you know the chant?"

"His days shall thou work and do all that thou art able."

And on the seventh holystole the decks and scrape the cable.

"The stone is called holystone because the first holystones were bits of tombs stolen from cemeteries. It's got a pious, religious sound—holy and prayer book and Sunday and all that—but it is when he is using this stone that the seaman is most profane."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

It Happened Before.

A self made, self satisfied and self assertive itinerant preacher was expatiating to a college graduate on his own eloquence.

"Colleges," he declared, "ain't necessary when a preacher's got a genuine call to the ministry. I'm thankful to say the Lord opened my mouth without education."

"That's interesting," returned his hearer. "Come to think of it, something like that happened several thousand years ago in connection with Isham, wasn't it?"—Civic Magazine.

In a Nutshell.

"Big talker," declared the Indian who had been listening to a local candidate. "Heap scrap."

"And what if he is not elected?"

"Scrap heap."—Kansas City Journal.

SUNKEN REEFS.

Sweeping the Ocean Floor Instead of Sounding.

The mishap of the cruiser Yankee brings forth the comment that it is the more remarkable as occurring on the coast "perfectly charted." Premising that the Yankee got off her course in a dense fog, it may be said that, while our coast is as well charted as that of any nation, "perfect" is not the characterization yet to be employed. The methods of surveying the ocean floor to locate reefs and shoals are now undergoing a revolution which, when fully accomplished, will reveal to the mariner many danger points which have heretofore escaped record.

The old way of finding out reefs and rocks not evident to the eye was by sounding. Now the coast survey proceeds by "sweeping"—that is, by sinking to the depth a pipe bar, which is trailed along by two boats, one at each end of the cable passing through it. Any obstruction encountered is immediately perceptible and is at once noted, located and observed. Coastal waters are carefully "platted," and each "plat" is thoroughly gone over. The superiority of "sweeping" over "sounding" is made evident by the fact that in a comparatively limited area of the Maine coast, covering rather more than forty linear miles, fifteen reefs have been discovered heretofore uncharted. It often happens in sounding that the lead line avoids some narrow spindle of rock whose point is just below the surface of the water and which goes uncharted. When the cruiser Brooklyn was gashed by one of these unsuspected phanaces on our coast a few years ago it was found to be located and surrounded with deep water up to within a few feet of its sides. Sweeping will minimize the probability of repetitions of such accidents.—Boston Transcript.

Umbrella as a Weapon.

In one of the women's fencing schools of Paris instruction in the art of attack and defense with foils has been discontinued and umbrellas instituted, says Popular Mechanics.

The first lesson the pupils learn in this up to date means of defense from attack on the streets is to baffle the watchfulness of the aggressor by slight blows. The most simple and at the same time most effective consists in applying a flat stroke of the umbrella upon his forehead. Surprised by this stroke and perhaps misled by the rim of the hat, he has not the time nor the presence of mind to seize the umbrella. The lunges which follow such a blow are not only ineffective, but dangerous. The first is known as the hors de combat blow. Seizing her umbrella near the handle with one hand and near the point with the other and advancing a step well forward, the pupil is well directed against the center of the aggressor's neck will drop him to the ground senseless and probably badly hurt. The same blow aimed at the pit of the stomach will probably send the recipient to the hospital and perhaps cripple him for life.

Municipal Theaters.

The first municipal, uncommercial theater in America—an endowed institution—is in successful operation in Red Wing, Minn. Red Wing is a town of only 10,000 persons, forty miles down the Mississippi river from St. Paul, and to it several years ago a citizen left $50,000 to found a municipal theater. A citizens' committee under the terms of the bequest manages the playhouse, and so well has it done its work that for the last three years a dividend on the capital invested has been paid to the town. Professor Richard Burton in a lecture on the drama, using the Red Wing experiment as a criterion, predicts that "in ten years probably, and in twenty-five years certainly every considerable city in the United States will have its municipal theater."

Milk Bricks.

Milk bricks are sold in Belgium and Denmark. These bricks are milk frozen solid, and when intended for use as soon as received in the household the lactical fluid for the tea or coffee has to be chipped off according to the quantity desired in the drink. This brick milk has grown to be a necessity in the warmer countries of Europe. The Belgian government has given a yearly subsidy to increase the trade. In Copenhagen a firm engaged in this business makes a weekly delivery of 300,000 pounds. A great deal of this goes to distant countries.

The Comet's Now and Then.

Times have changed since 430 years ago, when Halley's comet, for whose reappearance astronomers are now looking, was in the heavens. Then the Christian world prayed to be delivered from "the devil, the Turk and the comet." Now it says the devil is not so black as he has been painted, the Turk is a negligible quantity, and the comet would be rather welcome than otherwise.—Boston Transcript.

Balloons and Bullets.

Experiments conducted abroad have demonstrated that balloons traveling at a height of from 600 to 2,000 yards could be hit only once out of six shots, while they were absolutely safe at a height of 3,000 yards. Even when struck the damage to the gas bag was so small that the balloons were able to continue its journey for hours before the escaping gas made a landing necessary.

WILLIE LANDER SHOT BY NEGRO

Attempt to Assassinate Hopkinsville Boy at Nortonville.

THE ASSASSIN ESCAPED

Lander Is a Son of J. B.
Lander, Late of This City.

The Madisonville Hustler says:
"William Lander, aged 18, night
ticket agent for the L. & N. and Illinois Central railroads at Nortonville, was shot and painfully wounded early Monday morning by a strange negro. The negro made a deliberate attempt to assassinate the white boy but failed in his purpose.
The negro went to the depot at Nortonville shortly after midnight and engaged the ticket agent in conversation. After a few words had been passed between them the negro pulled a pistol from his pocket and offered to exchange it for Lander's weapon. The agent refused with both weapons. Lander asked him for his pistol, whereupon the negro turned and shot him in the groin. The assailant made his escape despite the efforts of the officers of Nortonville and adjacent towns he has not been apprehended.
Lander will recover, but the wound is a painful one. The negro's bullet would have proven fatal if it had been several inches higher."
Lander is a son of Mr. J. B. Lander, lately of this city. The negro escaped and is still at large.

Another Election Will Be Held in Madisonville

Madisonville, Ky., Dec. 9.—The petition filed by 472 voters of Madisonville asking for another vote as to whether the sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be permitted within the city limits came up before Judge Wilson in county court Monday and he granted an order for the election to be held on January 18, the time asked for by these filing the petition.

The city went dry by a majority of 37 on July 28th, but the wet forces appealed to the Hopkins circuit court, and Judge Gordon set aside the election on the ground that irregularities had been committed.

CHICAGO MEETING

International Independent
Telephone Association Holds Convention.

Frank G. Hoge, of Hopkin-ville, Chosen as One of the Directors.

The largest and most important convention in the history of the International Independent Telephone Association was held in the Auditorium Hotel in Chicago last week.

As a first step toward definite accomplishment, the association has been formally incorporated, with the intention of using the corporate powers to prepare it for larger work,
especially in the financial field.

Many papers and addresses were delivered by men prominent in the Independent telephone field, offering valuable suggestions in every practical branch of the industry, both technical and financial. These were followed by general discussion on the part of the delegates.

The following officers were elected:
President, E. H. Moulton, president Tri-State Telephone & Telegraph Company, Minneapolis; secretary, A. C. Davis, general manager
West Virginia Western Telephone
Company and its allied companies,
Parkersburg, W. Va.; treasurer,
Manford Savage (re-elected), president Home Telephone Company, Campain, Ill. The vice presidents are: P. L. Holdoegel, secretary Central Mutual Telephone Company,
Rockwell City, Iowa; E. B. Fisher,
secretary Citizens Telephone Company, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Dr. J.
F. Demers, secretary National Telephone Company, Levis, Quebec; and Walter L. Uhl, secretary Loganport Home Telephone Company, Logan-
port, Ind.

Among the board of directors chosen was Mr. Frank G. Hoge, of this city, president of the Kentucky
State Association.

Sustains Injury.

Mrs. J. W. McGehee sustained a serious injury Monday morning at her home on Franklin street. Mrs.
McGehee was standing on a step ladder
at one of the front windows
hanging a curtain when the ladder fell, precipitating Mrs. McGehee to the floor and breaking her left arm
at the wrist. The injury is a painful one.—Leaf-Chronicle.

Compromise Confirmed.

An order was entered in the United States court on Monday confirming the compromise in the case of J.
Miller Clark, of Hopkinsville, bankrupt some time ago and his offer to his creditors was accepted and an order to that effect filed a short time ago.—Owensboro Messenger.

Removal Notice.

The Hopkinsville Water Company,
incorporated, have removed their office from 316 South Main to the Y. M. C. A. building, Second avenue east.

ASSASSINATION

A Negro Man Shoots Down
a Young White
Boy.

ARRESTED AND JAILED

But Taken to Madisonville to Escape Possible Mob Violence.

A youth named Blakeley Collins, 15 or 16 years old, was shot and desperately wounded Monday afternoon by Charles Coleman, a negro man employed on the Gossett farm near Julien.

The shooting was apparently an unprovoked attempt to kill the boy,
as the negro shot him down and then
fired at him again on the ground.

Coleman was arrested late that night by Deputy Sheriffs Renshaw
and Cliborne and brought to jail.
Tuesday night he was taken to Madisonville, to avoid possible mob violence, as feeling was high in the neighborhood.

Collins, who is a son of the late T.
F. Collins, lives on the farm and had reported Coleman to Mr. Gossett for neglect of his work and the man had expressed a violent dislike for the little fellow, who is small and frail.
Monday morning the boy was told that the negro had threatened to cut his liver out before sundown.

That afternoon when it came time to feed the hogs, Collins was seen on the porch crying and said he was afraid to go, as the negro would probably kill him. Later he went into a trunk and secured an old rusty pistol with only one cartridge in it and went to the lot,
where the negro was lying in wait and began shooting at him. The boy fell and one or two shots were fired over him. His sister ran out of the house and saw the negro fire
the last shot. The boy had not fired the old weapon he had when it was picked up.

The negro used a 38 calibre weapon and the ball entered the right lung, near the nipple.
Dr. B. A. Caudle attended Collins and found his wound very dangerous,
but the boy was still alive yesterday
with a chance to recover if there are no complications.

SHOT AT WHEATCROFT.
Wounded Man Is Reported
Much Improved.

Cole Putman, mine foreman, who was shot through the lungs and left arm by Thos. Sullivan, at Wheat-croft Saturday, has been taken to a sanitarium at Evansville, where his condition is reported to be improved. It is said that the men had some trouble regarding the employment of Sullivan at the mine of which Putman was boss. Bad blood, it is declared, followed and culminated in the shooting.

Mr. Putman, who is well known in Madisonville, has been in the em-
